Teaching Through Nature

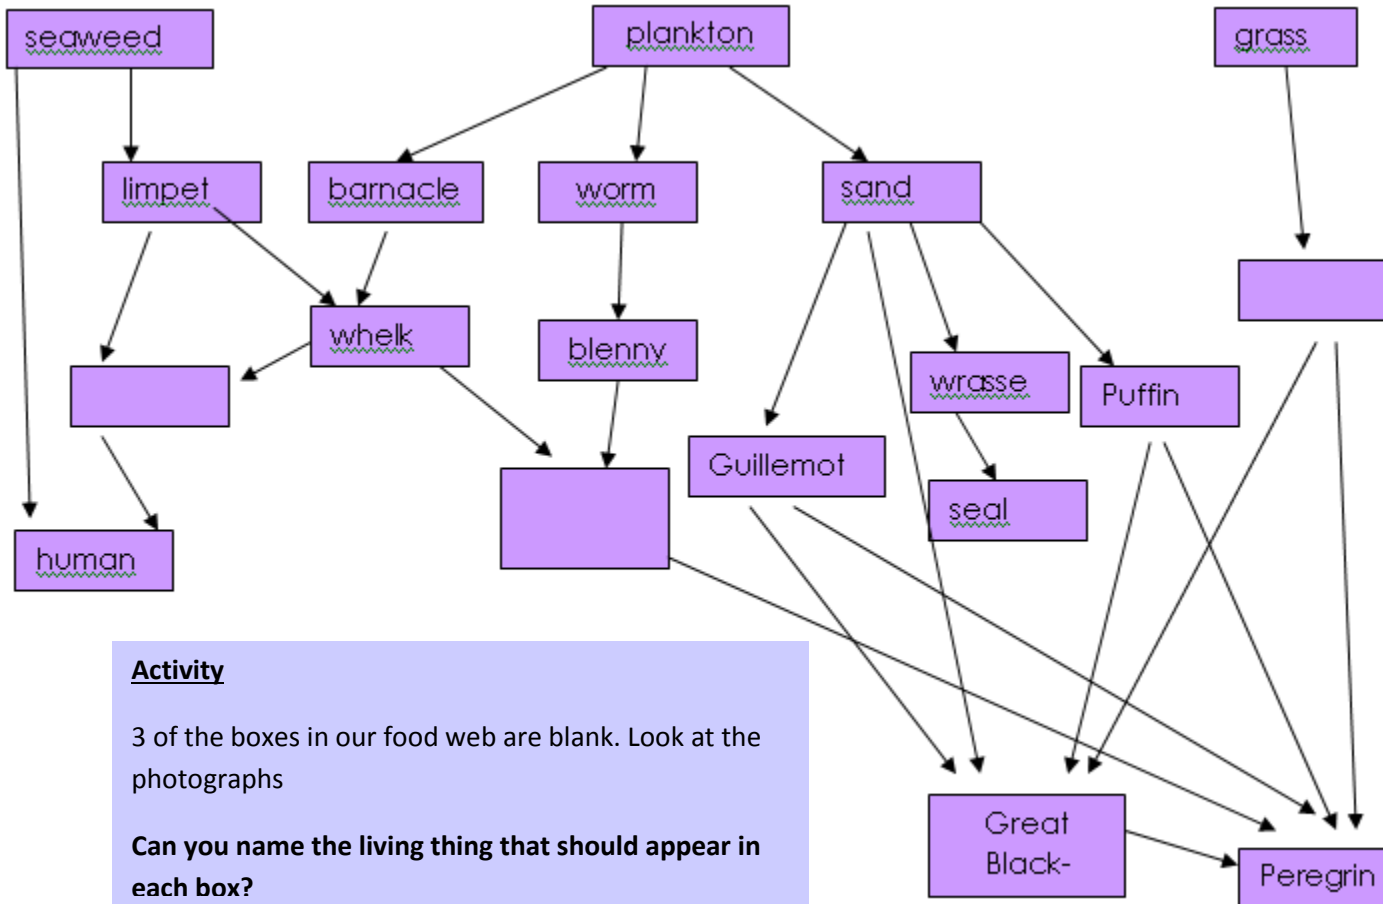

What is a food web?

A food web is made up of lots of food chains connected together.

A food web shows one path of how a living thing gets its food.

A food web shows how many different green plants and animals are connected in a habitat.

The Alderney Food Web: The food web below shows how all the food chains we have looked at fit together.

Activity

3 of the boxes in our food web are blank. Look at the photographs

Can you name the living thing that should appear in each box?
